Algeria Awards £25 Million Pipeline Contract To Britain

LONDON A oil pipeline connecting the Sahara oilfields with the Mediterranean coast is to be built under a £25 million contract signed by the Algerian Government and a British company, John Brown and Company. The contract covers the supply and laying of a 500 mile pipeline, with a capacity of 10,000,000 tons a year.

It will be completed within 18 months and will enable full development of the Sahara oil fields.

As part of the contract, Algerian technicians will be trained by the contractors in Britain.

A communique issued in Algiers after the signing of the contract said: "The British offer was preferred by Algeria for its general technical and financial and for the price propoed".

Rise In Britain's Investments Over-seas

LONDON... A big rise in British investment overseas, a marked improvement in the balance of payments on current account, and an increase of 5 per cent in the "Gross National Product", are outstanding facts emerging from three official reports published in London. They set the scene for the Budget-out next week-for the financial year 1964-65.

All deal with different aspects of the economy but all bring out the rapid expansion in 1963 and the improvement in British economic prospects.

British investment overseas in 1963 increased to a net outflow of £147 million, compared with one of £89 million in 1962,

During the Opening Sesion of Federal Parliament in Lagos, the President Dr. Nnamdi Azikiwe inspected a guard of honour, in from of the house.

Over 50 British Teachers For Nigeria

LONDON—Over fifty of the eighy British teachers who have volunteered to spend most of their long vacation in Africa, running intensive refresher courses for foreign teachers, will be going to Nigeria. And this week and next in London and Edinburgh the teachers for Nigeria-who will be working in all four Regions and in Lages—are attending special briefing meetings arranged by the British Council.

As well as learning more about Nigeria, the British teachers will study the latest methods of teaching English as a second language and see the most up-to-date developments in visual aids to teaching.

For Nigeria this will be the fourth year of these vacation courses for primary and secondary school teachers and the staff of teachers-trainin colleges.
