British Churches' Call

Day Of Prayer For South Africa

LONDON — A joint statement calling for a day of prayer on Sunday, July 21, for the beginning of intercessions for South Africa is issued today, signed by the heads of all Christian denominations in Britain.

The statement says that recent legislation in South Africa goes even further towards removing "one of the main foundations on which civilisation is built, namely the liberty of the individual."

Unless there was a reversal of this trend "we can see nothing in the end but violent disaster" said the signatories.

"We beg the present rulers to take heed before it is too late and we express the most urgent hope that patience will yet prevail among the non-European population."

What could Christians in Britain do, they asked: "First we can pray for all in South Africa — the black, coloured, Indian and white people and their leader." It was hoped that July 21 might be a day of beginning and that prayers would continue "without ceasing" in churches and homes.

"Secondly we can aid with our money those who suffer from the impact of the repressive legislation", the statement goes on.

"Thirdly, as citizens, we can make it clear that we recognize Britain's responsibility for three High Commission territories, Basutoland, Bechuanaland Protectorate and Swaziland. Until they reach viable independence we must ensure that the Government in Britain continues to be responsible...."

The statement is signed by the Archbishops of Canterbury and York, the Moderator of the Church of Scotland, the Archbishop of Birmingham, on behalf of the Roman Catholic hierarchy, the President of the Methodist Conference, the Chairman of the congregational union of England and Wales, the President of the Baptist Union, the Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of England, the Moderator of the Free Church, Federal Council, and the General Secretary of the British Council of Churches.

Young British Table-Tennis Champion For Nigeria

CHESTER BARNES, 16-year-old British table-tennis champion, arrived by air at Ikeja yesterday evening, to begin a series of exhibition tournaments in Lagos, Ibadan, Kaduna, and it is hoped, Enugu.

His tour has been paid for and arranged by the Nigeria Table Tennis Association.

Barnes' first appearance in Lagos will be with Zoltan Barczik of Hungary, the ex-European table-tennis champion, in a tournament with Nigerian table-tennis stars, at King's College on Saturday afternoon, at 3.30 p.m.

Tax Officer Looks Forward To Working In Nigeria

LONDON — Mr. Michael Brommell, a 27-year-old British income tax officer, sailed from Britain on Friday to spend three years in Nigeria, where he is to help in organising a system for the training of tax officers in the Northern Region, under Nigeria/UK technical assistance arrangements.

"I am very pleased that I have so selected for this exciting assignment and I am looking forward very much to be the challenge and opportunities of a new line of country," Mr. Brommell told our correspondent just before sailing.

Mr Brommell will be one of a team of three Britons engaged on the project, at Zaria Institute. The other two are Mr B Jones an Inspector of Taxes, and Mr P

Ayres, a tax officer. Mr. Brommell will be assisting in the training of Nigerians, the preparation of training manuals and official instruction books, and in the design of official forms.

He has been an income tax official in Nottingham since he left school at the age of sixteen. He is married and his wife and daughter aged twenty-two months will be accompanying him.

Nigerian Students On English Farm

Modern milking machines were one of the many mechanical aids that interested these two Nigerian students when they visited an English farm recently. Mrs. E A Fagunwa and Mr. M M Bida are at present at colleges in Britain, but during the three-weeks Easter end-of-term holiday they have been touring their north of England under the auspices of the British Council.
