Two New Oil Rigs On Order For Speeding Up Exploration

Arrangements are now being concluded between Shell-BP Petroleum Development Company of Nigeria Limited and the American-Dutch firm of Nederlandse Boormaatschappij N.V., (usually known as "Drilco"), of The Hague, for the supply of two new drilling outfits during the latter half of 1957.

These outfits, both National 80-6 Rigs similar to the already being operated by Drilco in Nigeria, will be used to speed up Shell-BP's oil exploration activities in the Eastern and Western Regions.

The National 80-6 Rig is capable of drilling to a depth of 12,000 feet, or a little more than two miles. It will bring the oil company's total of rigs of all types in Nigeria to six, including a testing outfit.

No. 48.

Wireless Licences.

The Department of Posts and Telegraphs wishes to remind members of the public operating radio receiving sets that they are required by law to take out annual wireless licences and that failure to do so renders them liable to certain penalties. Where a person operates more than one radio, e.g. a domestic radio and a car radio, a licence is required for each set.

It is clear from available figures that only a very small proportion of the total number of those who possess radios are in fact purchasing licences for them. This is a position which cannot be allowed to continue as it involves a considerable loss of revenue, and also is unfair to those members of the public who observe the requirements of the law by taking out licences. Therefore, as from the 1st of May, the Department will institute intensive measures of investigation and inspection in order to secure the observance of the Wireless Licensing Regulations and anyone found operating a radio without a current licence may be prosecuted.

Wireless Licences are obtainable from all Departmental Post Offices.
