THANK YOU MISS WITHERS

At this stage of our political evolution it is a matter worthy of note that a European lady responded spontaneously to an appeal to save the life of an African lady by giving part of her own blood. Although several others including Africans came forward at the critical moment to donate their blood; we like to comment especially on the magnanimity of Miss Withers who at the time of exigency never thought of colour or race.

If in Nigeria of today we have some more of this type of broad minded Europeans who like Miss Withers are prepared to show their real sympathy for the people of the country, we shall have less to grumble about discrimination colour bar or colour prejudice which in the past had created a damper in the heart of many Africans. That Miss Withers has saved the life of a dying person is an undisputed fact that she has an admirable breadth of out-look is also a fact and that she loves this country is just a logical and foregone conclusion to be deduced from these facts.

We commend the action of Miss Withers to those few mis-educated, misconceived and mean expatriates who by their arrogant actions polute the well of goodwill between Black and White. We are sure our readers will like to join us in saying Thank you Miss Withers.

Two Police Officers Attacked

Two officers of the Nigeria Police, Tiko Detachment, Victor Konsey and Thomas Mbow, were attacked by over 80 Ibeje people at Ikange fishing port, about six hours down river from Tiko recently.

The policemen were detailed to recover one woman who had been abducted. The woman was bound, hand and foot, and taken to Ikange where her "husband" resides.

On arrival the policemen, to their surprise, were greeted with beating of angry drums. In another minutes they were surrounded by over 80 unarmed men, who unprovoked, attacked, Konsey and Mbow, seized their batons, caps and whistles and tore their uniforms leaving them only with their sleeveless singlets. Against such a number of men and with a most uncertain future before them, resistance by both men appeared impossible and fruitless.

The policemen, beaten and helpless, were carried across the border to a French Cameroons fishing port where they were locked up for the better part of three days until they were traced by a squad of seven policemen under Corporal Joseph Ngolo.

After two days on the matter the police recovered their comrades' belts, but their wrist watches and other equipment have not yet been found. Investigation still continues and already ten arrests have been made.

The woman who was taken away into forced marriage has been brought back to "freedom".

Course In Journalism

The second Vacation Course in Journalism opens at University College, Ibadan on Tuesday, 8th September. The course is intended for young established journalists who are on the staffs of publications or who are experienced free-lances.

A new feature this year will be in high proportion of practical work on all stages of the course and leading newspapers have agreed to publish the best examples of each exercise crediting the students responsible.

Lectures and lecturers include The role of Information Service (J. A. Jones) "Government and the Press" (John Stocker); "The Law of Libel and Sedition" (H. O. Davies) "Ethics of Journalism" (Ernest Ikoli); "Administration of Press Advertising" (P. Harris); "Subediting and Make-Up (Percy Roberts); "Photography" (Ian Brookworth); "Women in Journalism" Nora Majekodunmi); "Magazine Production" (Donald MacKew); Printing and Layout (S. Edwards); "Feature Writing" (W. H. Irvine).
