To
AINA ONABOLU Esq.,
Artist.
Onabolu Studio;

Worthy Artist,

I heartily congratulate you on your success in winning the £5 5s. od., Prize offered by The Nigerian Government for producing the best Poster for The Nigerian Section of the impending British Empire Exhibition as announced in Reuter's Telegrams of the 7th instant.

Little did some think, that when about a score of years ago, it dawned on you to cultivate your artistic talent with which, it goes without saying, you are naturally endowed, whilst pursuing "the even tenor of your way" in the local Marine Department with which you were then connected as a humble signaller, Fame awaits you in the Art in which you hardly spare yourself, in order to acquire thoroughness and efficiency; and the measure of success which is attending your efforts now, as never before, either as Lecturer in Drawing, in many Secondary Schools in the Colony, or as an Interpreter of The Pencil and Brush in sketching personalities from life, ought to be an incentive to others, whose talent in this direction still lies dormant, and only requires the magic touch of your artistic genius.

By this your recent public achievement in the competition (the first in the Annals of the Colony) in which, I understand, some Europeans, noted for their painting inclination, have taken part, you have proved once more to friends and foes, not having the good fortune to partake of our colour, that given the same opportunity, the African is NOT inferior to any other races in the cultivation of Science, Art, and Philosophy. May we have in you, The Michael Angelo of The African Race.

Again I congratulate you.

Eko Akete.
